

Russia-Ukraine war: Daily Update Report (July 30, 2024)

Key developments

National guard operations

- The national guard of Ukraine reported significant operational success over the past week, the list is as following
 - 16 Russian tanks
 - 22 armoured fighting vehicles
 - 16 electronic warfare systems
 - 105 enemy dugouts

French-Iranian diplomatic concerns

- French president Emmanuel Macron cautioned Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian against continuing support for Russia's aggression in Ukraine. French emphasised the need for Iran to halt activities that could destabilize the region, including its nuclear program and support for Hezbollah.

Ukraine's first Olympic

- Ukrainian fencer Olha Kharlan secured a bronze medal in the individual saber competition at the Paris 2024 Olympics

Armoured vehicles approved for service

- Ukraine's ministry of defence approved 5 new models of armoured vehicle for deployment on frontlines and fight Russian army. These includes:
 - Personal carrier
 - Vehicles with enhanced anti-mine protection
 - Repair and evacuation vehicle based on tanks chassis.

US military aid

- US announced a new military aid package for Ukraine worth $1.7 billion, it includes:
 - Air defence ammunitions
 - Artillery rounds
 - Ammunitions for HIMARS rocket launchers
 - Multiple types of anti-tank weapons.

Conclusion

The conflict between Ukraine and Russia remains intense, with significant military engagements and diplomatic manoeuvres. Ukraine's defence forces continue to achieve strategic victories, while international diplomatic and military support for Ukraine persists. The achievements of Ukrainian athletes at the Olympics also serve as a morale booster amid the ongoing conflict.

Citations:

National Guard Operations: Ukrinform.

French-Iranian Diplomatic Concerns: Ukrinform.

Ukraine's First Olympic Medal: Ukrinform.

Armoured Vehicles Approved for Service: Ukrinform.

Frontline Fighting: Aljazeera. US Military Aid: Aljazeera.

Some AI 😊